

THE DAILY BEE.

Thursday Morning, May 15.

PRINTERS WANTED.

A number of good printers can find steady employment at this office.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

A fire engine was called out yesterday to pump out the basement of the Cozen's hotel.

Mrs. Annie R. Woodbury (colored) will lecture at the Festival by the Baptists, at their hall on Farnam street, on Thursday, May 15th, 1884. Subject: "Belief in God." Admission ten cents.

The members of the police force, with the exception of Ed. Gorman, who still sticks to his little white "caddy," have provided themselves with new hats, all alike, and they now present quite a metropolitan appearance.

Considerable complaint is made about a fellow in this city who has developed into a professional nusher, and it may be necessary to give him a benefit of a chapter or two through these columns.

About 11 o'clock Tuesday night a young man was held up on North Fourteenth St. by two men with drawn revolvers. The victim stood perfectly quiet while the fellows went through his pockets after which he was allowed to depart. He only lost a few cents in change.

Two, evening a lady was run over at the corner of Thirteenth and Harney streets, by a team driven by two colored boys. The young rascals were driving at a reckless pace and after they had run over the lady they did not stop to see what damage they had done.

Four young ladies of this city have made all necessary arrangements for giving a boston May party at Hancock's park this evening. It is needless to say that it will be well managed, and all who are fortunate enough to receive invitations may rest assured of a first class time.

This evening the young ladies of the First M. E. church will give a strawberry and ice cream festival in the church rooms on Davenport street. The young ladies in charge are sparing no pains to make the affair successful and add to the comfort and enjoyment of all who may attend. Everybody is invited to attend.

WOULD not be without Redding's. Russ Salvo, is the verdict of all who use it. Price 2 cents.

PERSONAL.

Henry Voss returned from the east last night.

O. N. Vestin, one of A. Polack's clerks, is to start next Friday on a three months' visit to his home in Sweden.

The Gatesburg (Illinois) Register says Miss Ella McBride, the eloquent, of Omaha, Nebraska, is visiting at the seminary. Since completing her course at Knox in '80, Miss McBride has established a reputation as a dramatic reader second to none in the west. Her upward career has been watched with interest and admiration by her many friends in this city.

Tuesday's Wedding. The sun shone Tuesday morning on a joyous wedding party proceeding to St. Philomena's, and one of the happiest on unions of hearts and hands was witnessed at the altar of the cathedral. The contracting parties were Mr. E. F. Moriarty and Miss Susie Lynch, while the groomsmen were Messrs. P. C. Heafey and P. Duffy, and the bridesmaids were Miss Mollie J. Moriarty, sister of the groom, and Miss Aggie Clary. Rev. Father O'Connor tied the knot, and nuptial high mass was celebrated.

A reception was held Tuesday eve, at 1314 Jackson street, where a beautiful home had been prepared for the bride and groom and where a multitude of valuable and beautiful gifts had been sent that congratulations might be perpetuated in silver, crystal, satin and velvet and other choice forms. Among the gifts which were many, were noticed those of the associates of the groom in the Union Pacific railway local freight office, and of the relatives and friends in this city, Columbus, Shell Creek and Platte Centre.

The guests were finely entertained at the reception at the house, and later went to Cunningham's hall, where a brilliant ball was held.

The groom is a young gentleman who is well liked and highly respected by all who know him, while the bride has the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

Police Court.

The notorious Sadie McBride was arrested Tuesday night for robbery. She enticed a young man named Miller into her den, and then struck him, knocking him down, and threatened to kill him if he did not give up his money. He handed over his pile, about $5, and escaped. The woman is being held pending examination.

Frank Reed and William Flannigan, were run in by Officer Ruane Tuesday night and charged with being suspicious characters. Three new revolvers and two new knives were found in their possession. They stated that they arrived in this city yesterday afternoon from Kansas City, and that they found the revolvers and knives a short distance from the Union Pacific depot. They were sent up to the county jail to await examination.

Four disturbers of the peace were in police court yesterday. They were each fined $5 and costs. One paid, and the other three were sent up.

An interesting Advertisement. The advertisement of fortune of Samuel Hecksher senior in Hamburg in the number of our gazette of this day is very interesting. This house has acquired so good a reputation by the prompt and discreet payment of the amounts gained here and in the environs, that we beg all our readers to take notice of his insertion of this day.

Pioneer Hook and Ladder. You are requested to meet at the truck house this (Thursday) evening, at 7 o'clock sharp, for the purpose of practice. By order of CHARLES FISHER, Foreman. F. H. KOEFTERS, Ass't Secy.

No Experiment. With a majority of people it is no experiment that Dr. Bosonko's Cough and Lung Syrup is a cure for Coughs, Colds, Pain in the Lungs, Shortness in the Chest, etc., but for those who doubt, ask your neighbors who have used it or get a free sample bottle of Schroeder & Becht's, the drug store, 1501 F. H. Koesters, Ass't Secy.

ANOTHER RAILROAD WAR.

A Lively Local Fight Between the B. & M. and the Union Pacific.

The B. & M. Makes a Strategic Movement--800 Feet of Track Laid at Night--The Usual Injunctions.

A very important railway ordinance was introduced in the city council Tuesday evening in the interest of the B. & M., as well as for the general interest of Omaha. It was an ordinance to grant the Omaha & Southwestern railway company, (virtually the B. & M.) the right of way across Tenth street, between Mason and Marcy, Eleventh at Marcy, Thirteenth between Marcy and Mason streets, Fourteenth between Mason and Pacific streets, Pierce at Sixteenth street, and in the general course thus indicated, to the city limits.

Councilman Behm, who introduced the ordinance, moved to proceed and have it passed at once, in order to prevent the B. & M. from being bulldozed and imposed upon by outsiders. The company, he said, would pay all damages. Councilman Murray explained that the B. & M. proposed to lay out a line to the Union stock yards, and thence to Ashland, thus shortening the road to Lincoln by 14 miles.

Councilman Hascall made a strong speech in favor of the passage of the ordinance. He said that this line simply ran from the B. & M. a line out of the city from Tenth to Twentieth street parallel with the U. P. railway. This ordinance provides that the B. & M. (or Omaha & Southwestern) shall not interfere with the U. P. or with the rights of private owners.

Councilman Redfield also strongly supported the ordinance. The building of this B. & M. line to the stock yards meant 200,000 head more of cattle per year for the stock yards.

Councilman Ford objected to the immediate passage of the ordinance, and intimated that money had been offered and paid to have it passed. He moved to postpone for one week.

Councilman Thrane said that he had intended to vote for the ordinance, but after hearing the statement of Councilman Ford, relative to the use of money, he preferred to wait.

Councilman Leeder did not oppose the ordinance.

Councilman Woodworth said that if it was an ordinance to give a right of way to the Belt line, he would vote for it, but he could not for this.

The motion to refer for one week was lost, the president and Messrs. Becht, Anderson, Ford and Woodworth voting in favor of it.

The motion to pass to a third reading was lost by a vote of 6 to 6, which sends the ordinance over one week anyway. It will come up next week upon third reading, and a vote will be taken on its passage.

When the B. & M. folks brought their ordinance into the council they had nine members who had promised to vote for its passage at once, but the Union Pacific getting wind of the affair sent John M. Thurston to the council chamber. The result was that three members wavered, and the vote stood six to six. However, the ordinance will probably be passed at the next council meeting. Of course the Union Pacific members of the council voted against it last evening, and will do so at the next meeting.

Anticipating that the Union Pacific would be on hand to prevent the passage of the ordinance, the B. & M. managers had arranged a strategic plan to be carried out in the event that the ordinance was not immediately passed. This plan to lay the track along a portion of the desired right of way, and this was successfully done last night. Within fifteen minutes after the vote in the council was taken, resulting in putting the ordinance over to next week, 112 B. & M. workmen, marched from the B. & M. yard to the vicinity of the Union Pacific oil house, at Eleventh and Marcy streets, carrying ties, rails, and other material for track-laying, and in the course of three hours they laid over 700 feet of track, about fifty feet south of the Union Pacific track. The track laid by the B. & M. runs from Eleventh to Thirteenth street, hugging the high bank around the curve.

About 11 o'clock Assistant General Manager Kimball, of the Union Pacific put in an appearance on the ground, he having been informed by some messenger of what was going on. He at once proceeded to get out an injunction on the B. & M., but did not get it served until about four o'clock in the morning. The B. & M. had completed their work and secured the ground by this time. Meantime, the B. & M. served an injunction, which had been prepared on Tuesday afternoon, on the Union Pacific managers about midnight to restrain that company from interfering in any way with the proposed line of the B. & M.

THE PLAN OF THE B. & M. is to run a track across Tenth street to connect with the plan of track which was laid between Eleventh and Thirteenth, and then after running south-some little distance alongside the Union Pacific, to strike south to the Union stock yards, and thence extend its track to Ashland. This will shorten the B. & M. line to Lincoln 14 miles, by way of the stock yards and Ashland. The old Orapella line will be left for connection with Plattsmouth and the east. The new line will not only shorten up the distance between Omaha and Lincoln, but will bring Omaha into direct connection with the cities of South Platte country, and will enable Omaha merchants to compete in that section of the state with Chicago, St. Joe and Kansas City dealers.

Great benefits will be derived by Omaha from this enterprise in other ways, and the passage of the ordinance guaranteeing the right of way to the B. & M. ought not to be delayed. If it is passed at once the B. & M. will build the track to the stock yards this year and will spend $500,000 in Omaha. The Boston capitalists who are interested in the B. & M. now feel like putting a great deal of money into Omaha, whose growth has surprised them. They see that it is to be a great city, and they desire to bring their great system--the B. & M. and the C. B. & Q.--into closer relations and shorter connection with the metropolis. They have in view two or three enterprises for this city, and whether we secure them depends to a large extent upon the passage of the right of way ordinance. The ground upon which the B. & M. asks the right of way, and upon which it has laid a track, is part of Marcy street.

THE SESSION ENDED.

The State Medical Society Adjourned Last Night.

The Officers for the Next Year Installed--A Banquet Given at the Millard Last Evening.

Yesterday was the closing day of the fifteenth annual session of the Nebraska Medical Society. Nearly all the state members in attendance from abroad remained in the city until to-day. The attendance at the scientific meeting yesterday was larger than the day before, and the exercises were interesting and instructive.

The report on section of surgery was read by Dr. Livingston of Plattsmouth. In this report was a translation by Dr. Christensen, of Grand Island, of Prof. Renzsch's lecture on the wounds of President Garfield.

The report of section on obstetrics was made by Dr. L. H. Robbins, of Lincoln. A paper on puerperal fever was read by Dr. Leisinger of Omaha.

A paper on anatomy was read by A. S. Mansfield, of Ashland. Report of section on nervous disease was read by Dr. S. A. Merriam, of Omaha. Report of section on history of medicine was read in abstract by A. B. Anderson, of Falls City. Index of all the papers submitted to the Nebraska state medical society, from the first to the fifteenth sessions, was read by Dr. Mansfield, of Ashland.

In the evening the association met in business meeting to install the officers for the coming year and transact any other business that might come before that body.

A vote of thanks was tendered the outgoing officers for their labor during the year just passed, and to the various railroad companies for their courtesies to the association.

Resolutions on the death of Willard Parker, Samuel D. Gross and J. Marion Sims, three world renowned men in the science of medicine and surgery, who have died in the past year, were adopted.

A resolution was also adopted by which the various members of the association are to be furnished with blanks for births, deaths, contagious and epidemic diseases. These when filled out are to be sent to Dr. Mansfield, of Plattsmouth, secretary of the association, who will compile them and send his report to the Governor of the state each year. The governor, it is said, has agreed to transmit these reports to the legislature with his recommendations.

The following resolution, which it is thought by the members will send to state association, was presented by Dr. M. W. Stone, of Wahoo, and unanimously adopted: Resolved that candidates for admission into membership in the Nebraska Medical Society shall possess the following qualifications: First: Creditable certificates of good moral standing; Second: Diploma of graduation from a good literary college or university, or high school, or lacking this, Third: A thorough examination in the branches of a good English education, including mathematics, English composition and elementary physics or natural philosophy.

Branches of medical science to be included in the course of instruction: First, anatomy; second, physiology; third, chemistry; fourth, materia medica and therapeutics; fifth, theory and practice of medicine; sixth, pathology; seventh, surgery; eighth, obstetrics and gynecology; ninth, hygiene; tenth, medical jurisprudence.

Length of regular or graduated course. First, the time occupied in the regular course or sessions from which students are graduated shall not be less than five months or twenty weeks each. Second, two full courses of lectures not within one and the same year of time shall be required for graduation with the degree of doctor of medicine. Attendance at several or all of the following: Regular attendance during the entire lecture course shall be required. Allowance being made only for absence occasioned by the student's sickness. Such absence not to exceed 20 per centum of the course. Second, Regular examination or quizzes to be made by each lecturer or professor daily, or at least twice each week. Third, Final examinations on all branches to be conducted when practicable by other competent examiners than the professor in each branch.

The clinical, dissections and hospital attendance. First, Each student shall have twenty weeks of instruction in the clinical attendance during at least two terms of clinical and hospital dissections shall be required. Second, Each student shall have twenty weeks of instruction in the clinical attendance during at least two terms of clinical and hospital dissections shall be required. Third, Each student shall have twenty weeks of instruction in the clinical attendance during at least two terms of clinical and hospital dissections shall be required.

The Rush Medical College Alumni. The alumni of the Rush Medical College, of Chicago, held a meeting in the Millard hotel yesterday afternoon for the purpose of forming a society of the former sons of that institution in this state. Eleven members were present and an organization was perfected to be known as the Rush Medical College Alumni Society of Nebraska. D. A. Walden, of Beatrice, was elected president, J. Beck Ralph, secretary, and William H. Layton, treasurer.

A resolution was adopted by the society to hold its meetings annually at the same time and place as those of the Nebraska State Medical Association.
